Don't know what to read next? Try one of these popular books!

NEW! Finding Lubchenko (Simmons) - Great action/thriller with Evan, a teenage-type James Bond hero. Includes a murder mystery, computer espionage and international intrigue.

NEW! Flush (Hiaasen) - Noah's dad is a "psycho ecology man" and is determined to find out who is pumping raw sewage into the Florida Keys. Lots of action and humor, by the author of the recently released movie, Hoot.

NEW! Naughts & Crosses (Blackman) - If you are lucky enough to belong to the "Crosses", you will have everything; power, money and acceptance. The "Naughts" are barely considered human - and you better not mix with someone from the other side!

NEW! Shark Life (Benchley) - Written by the famous author of Jaws, this book reveals real life stories about sharks. Lots of action and even some actual shark photos.

Artemis Fowl (Colfer) - Artemis is a child genius and quite a greedy one at that.. He sets out to steal the massive wealth held by the underground world of elves, fairies and trolls. Lots of action and amazing special effects.

Don't Look Behind You (Duncan) - April can't wait for prom which is only four days away. Her dad announces that the family must leave town immediately to join the Witness Protection program. What if you had to leave everyone and everything behind . . . forever?

Ender's Game (Card) - Even readers that don't like science fiction, will enjoy this first volume of the Ender Series! Ender is "chosen" for battle school at a young age to help save the world from the dreaded buggers. But, when all is said and done, is it just a game?

Fault Line (Tashjian) - Becky is an up and coming comedian, working on her own comedy routines and trying them out in comedy clubs. Lots of quirky characters in her life and one not-so-funny twist to the story.

Merchant of Death (MacHale) - Bobby Pendragon is just a normal kid until he gets sucked into a mysterious parallel universe. Classic battle of good vs. evil in this first volume of the Pendragon fantasy series.

Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants (Brashares) - Do you like to shop for jeans? Imagine four friends that can all wear the same pair! Follow the "travels" of these jeans as the girls go their separate ways for the summer.

Speak (Anderson) - Who really called the police at the back-to-school party? Why won't Melinda talk to anyone? What can make her break her silence?

Staying Fat For Sarah Byrnes (Crutcher) - Sarah was horribly burned as a little girl. Eric, her only friend is horribly overweight. Is their friendship in jeopardy when Eric joins the swim team and starts to shed some pounds?

Tangerine (Bloor) - Erik is on a fast track to play football for one of the premier colleges in the country. Paul, the nerdy younger brother, is an aspiring soccer player in spite of being legally blind. Who is really the better athlete, and even more, the better person?
