Library of Congress: The Gettysburg Address [Dictionary >]

This site is a wonderful resource for the "Gettysburg Address". Included here are drafts of the address, transcriptions of the address in English and 28 other languages, Lincoln's invitation to Gettysburg, the only known photo of Lincoln at Gettysburg, and the preservation techniques used for the original drafts. Be sure to click on the 'Image' link at the bottom of the explanation of each document to see the actual document!! A must see site!!

How do I log on?

Most of you should have an account already. Try last first initial (housej) and guess at your password. If that doesn't work, click on Forgot your password. If that doesn't work, email me.

If you can get on but you are listed as Student, go to My Profile and enter the teacher key.
